Strategic Marketing Essentials for Non-Marketing Leaders

Ref: 321407_129405 Date: 30 August – 3 September 2027 Location: Cape Town (South Africa) Fees: 4200 GBP

Why This Course

Marketing is no longer the responsibility of marketing departments alone. Today, managers and professionals across all functions are expected to understand marketing fundamentals, contribute to customer-focused decisions, and align their work with market realities. Without a solid grasp of marketing strategy, even strong technical or operational decisions can miss their intended impact.

The Strategic Marketing for Non-Marketing Professionals Program is an intensive one-week course designed to demystify marketing and make it practical, accessible, and actionable. It equips participants with essential marketing knowledge and strategic thinking skills needed to support business growth, collaborate effectively with marketing teams, and make informed decisions.

Through practical exercises, real-world case studies, and hands-on applications, participants learn how marketing works in practice—and how to apply it directly within their roles and organizations.

What You'll Learn and Practice
