Ref: 321651_143029 Date: 10 - 14 Feb 2025 Location: Amsterdam (Netherlands) Fees: 4200 Euro

Introduction

Risk management is one of the most important tools necessary in the field of business management, and this is not limited to companies with their multiple fields, but even individuals need planning and risk management as well. Every business needs planning on how to deal with issues related to the economy, financial risks and various other risks. Therefore, it is imperative for individuals who develop a map of the risks in life, which can be addressed and transferred based on the severity of the risks surrounding the individual or project. "Prevention is better than cure" and that is why risk management is essential for every organization/individual.
