Why This Course

The legal profession demands far more than knowledge of statutes and precedents. It requires courtroom judgment, strategic thinking, emotional discipline, professional ethics, and the ability to build credibility over time. For aspiring lawyers, developing these qualities early is essential to handling the pressures of advocacy and growing into a confident and respected legal professional.

This intensive 1-week course, led by Senior Advocate Raju Ramachandran, offers aspiring lawyers a comprehensive understanding of courtcraft, advocacy, and legal ethics. Participants will gain invaluable insights from Mr. Ramachandran's extensive experience as a former Additional Solicitor General and Supreme Court advocate. The course covers essential aspects of legal practice, from mental preparation to ethical considerations, equipping young lawyers with the tools to thrive in the challenging legal profession.
