Criminology and Psychological Profiling: Unraveling Minds

21 – 25 December 2026
Washington DC (USA)

UK Traininig
PARTNER

Criminology and Psychological Profiling: Unraveling Minds

Ref: 322895_218113 Date: 21 – 25 December 2026 Location: Washington DC (USA) Fees: 5900 GBP

Course Description

This comprehensive 1-week course explores the fascinating intersection of criminology and psychological profiling. Participants will gain in-depth knowledge of criminal behavior, forensic analysis, and profiling techniques used in modern law enforcement. The course combines theoretical foundations with practical applications to provide a well-rounded understanding of this complex field.

Learning Objectives

- Understand the principles of criminology and criminal psychology
- Develop skills in crime scene analysis and evidence interpretation
- Learn various profiling techniques and their applications in investigations
- Explore the psychological factors contributing to criminal behavior
- Gain insights into the criminal justice system and investigative processes

Course Modules

Day 1: Introduction to Criminology and Criminal Psychology

- Foundations of criminology
- Criminal psychology basics
- Nature vs. nurture debate in criminal behavior
- Historical development of profiling

Day 2: Crime Scene Analysis and Forensic Evidence

- Crime scene investigation techniques
- Types of forensic evidence
- Behavioral evidence analysis
- Case study examinations

Day 3: Profiling Methodologies and Techniques

- Inductive vs. deductive profiling
- Geographical profiling
- Offender typologies
- Victimology in profiling

Day 4: Criminal Behavior and Psychopathology

- Personality disorders in criminals
- Psychopathy and sociopathy
- Motivations behind violent crimes
- Serial offender psychology

Day 5: Practical Applications and Ethics

- Profiling in investigations
- Legal considerations in profiling
- Ethical issues in criminal profiling
- Future trends in criminology and profiling

Practical Wins for Participants

- Ability to analyze crime scenes and criminal behavior patterns
- Skills to develop basic offender profiles for investigations
- Understanding of psychological factors in criminal acts
- Knowledge to contribute to criminal investigations and risk assessments

