Why This Course

Managing performance today requires more than setting targets and conducting reviews. It involves understanding what drives human behavior, how attitudes are formed, and how communication and motivation influence outcomes in the workplace. Organizations that master these elements are better equipped to build high-performing, engaged teams.

This intensive 1-week program is designed to help HR professionals and managers develop a deeper understanding of employee behavior while strengthening their ability to manage performance effectively. It combines psychological insights with practical management techniques to help participants improve communication, handle challenges with confidence, and create a more positive and productive work environment.
